PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 19, 1833.

THE MAIL.—Again the stage came in this morning, bringing no mail from Baltimore, or any place east of Harrisburgh; we are therefore left to fill our columns as we best can. We really and anxiously wish that this matter should be enquired into, and corrected.

GULLIBILITY.—The gullibility of the Democratic party is truly amusing. This remark has often suggested itself to our mind, but it was recalled to our recollection just now, upon opening the Lancaster Journal of Friday. This journal is an old and unyielding Federal paper, and yet no words are of more frequent occurrence in its columns than Democracy, Democratic, Democrat.

In the paper, of Friday last, there is a long address to the Democratic party of Lancaster county, the principal, real object of which seems to be to recommend James Buchanan, an old Federalist, as the Democratic candidate for Senator in the Congress of the United States. This recommendation concludes with the following most unfelicitous expression, in relation to that patriot.

"It will not be forgotten that, on all occasions, the election and administration of President Jackson have found in him a true and efficient friend —one without equivocation or duplicity—whose sincerity has been beyond suspicion or question."

In the same paper we find the following sentence:

"Of such men as Dallas, Wilkins, and Buchanan, every honest Democrat should be proud. They not only elevate the character of the party, but they procure for the state and nation a proper influence and respect."

Did the writer of that article ever blush? if he did, surely his cheeks must have glowed when he wrote this sentence. Is it not too barefaced even for the gullibility of Pennsylvania Democracy? Other states' politicians have spoken about the "stupid democracy of Pennsylvania"—if that democracy can swallow this slang, the title must be admitted to be well applied.

If Pennsylvania democracy overlooks the insult in this sentence, it well deserves the title of the humble democracy of Pennsylvania. Wilkins and Buchanan, it seems, by abandoning their old friends, and joining the democratic party, have "elevated the character" of the latter party. Alack and alas, for the character of Jeffersonian Democracy!—Is Pennsylvania democracy really so gullible—will it continue, for ever, to swallow such slang? Is it only necessary for a few leaders to give the name of Democrat to any man, to make him such? This would seem to be a shorter process than even "dying in the wool."

We admire the ingenuity of the editor of the Lancaster Journal, himself an old federalist, in thus cunningly insinuating that when old federalists join the democratic party, they elevate the character of that party; and we take it as a handsome compliment to those firmer federalists who adhere, through all trials, to the name as well as to the principles of Federalism.

It would perhaps be a problem worth solving, to ascertain what would be the effect upon the democratic party, if all the old federalists were to join it.

This last extract, from the Lancaster Journal, was not original in that paper, but had appeared first in the Carlisle Republican.—We would like to know the early politics of the editor of that paper. If he had been originally a federalist, this insinuation, that the character of the Democratic party was elevated, by the adhesion of federalists, was as bold as it was ingenious. If he had originally, and always, been a Democrat, it is conclusive evidence of the humility of his pretensions.

The New York Canals.—The Comptroller of New York has issued a circular, stating that the Commissioners of the Canal Fund are now ready to pay off the Canal Stock, redeemable in 1837, and offering a premium to such holders of that stock as will now surrender it, and receive payment.

The editor of the Albany Argus, in noticing this circular, and the bright prospects of that State, has the following paragraph:

"We are informed that goods, coming from New York, have been shipped the present season from Albany to Galena, Pekin, Peoria, and Lower Alton, in the State of Illinois; to Paris, Maysville, Petersburgh, Louisville, and Lexington, Kentucky; to Chicago and Green Bay, Michigan Territory; to Fort Wayne, via the Maumee, Indiana; to Nashville and Clarksville, Tennessee; to St. Louis, Missouri; and to Florence, Alabama. This information is derived from one of the forwarding lines, (the Merchant's) and embraces only the places to which that line had shipped goods; there are several lines engaged in transporting goods to Ohio, and the other western States, whose shipments might have been referred to, but we have given points in six States beyond Ohio, which are reached by goods transported through the Erie Canal."

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—It may not be generally known that the Rev. H. B. Bascom, formerly of this city, delivers the Annual Address before the united societies of Jefferson College, on the 26th instant. On this occasion, much may be expected from the acknowledged talents of Mr. Bascom; and I trust that many of our citizens—especially his intimate friends—will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear the Address. B.

MEETING.

In pursuance of public notice, the democratic citizens of the Western townships, composing a large part of Allegheny county, assembled at the house of Mr. John Fife, in Ohio township, on Friday, the 30th August. On motion, Colonel LORING HODGE was elected chairman, and B. Vandevert and Charles Lorimer, Secretaries. The meeting being called to order, it was, on motion,

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to draft a preamble and resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting—whereupon, John K. Seaton, John Dickson, and C. Lorimer, of Ohio, B. Vandevert of Moon, and Thomas Brandon of Fayette township, were selected for that purpose. The committee having retired for a short time, reported the following preamble and accompanying resolutions, which were adopted.

Whereas, the townships of which we are residents, compose a large portion of the county of Allegheny, they are entitled to at least a share in the representation of the people at Harrisburg, and whereas, at the late democratic convention no regard was paid to the claims of this section of the county, which neglect, we believe, was owing to the intrigues of a few individuals in the city of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, and whereas, we view the ticket nominated at that convention as exceptionable, as well because of the political character of the last two candidates, as of the manner in which the nomination was effected, we believe we are doing our duty to ourselves and to the rest of the county to remonstrate against the ticket, as settled, and withhold from it our countenance and support, and whereas we believe that the interests of the democratic party require that a ticket, democratic in reality, as well as in name, be formed.

Resolved—That the ticket nominated by the democratic convention so far as William Robinson, Jr. and William Kerr are concerned, ought not to receive the support of the Democratic party.

Resolved—That we recommend to our fellow citizens the names of Robert Anderson of Ohio, and Joseph Johnston of Fayette township as candidates for assembly, in the room of W. Robinson Jr. and Wm. Kerr, and that the following ticket be offered for their consideration and support at the ensuing fall election.

For Assembly—James Scott, of Elizabeth,
Robert Hilands, of Ross,
Robert Anderson, of Ohio,
Joseph Johnston, of Fayette.

Commissioner—Alexander Carnahan.

Auditor—Alexander McClure.

Resolved—That we regret that we are under the painful necessity of giving it as our opinion that the nomination of the late democratic Convention was made through the management of a few politicians about the city, without any regard to the interests of the county, or the welfare of the party.

From the Harrisburg Chronicle, a Jackson Paper.

THE PUBLIC DEPOSITS.—Some of our contemporaries seem amazingly sensitive with regard to the public deposits being suffered to remain so long in the Bank of the United States. General Jackson has been in office nearly five years, during all which time the deposits have been considered safe in the Bank. The notes of the Bank U. S. are in as good credit as they ever were.—While the people have this confidence in the Bank, a sudden withdrawal of the Deposits, without some good and sufficient ground of doubt being assigned, as to the safety of the government funds in that institution, would not redound much to the credit of the administration.

The people repose the utmost confidence in Gen. Jackson, and rely upon the united efforts of the Old Chief and his efficient Cabinet, to proceed in the reform of abuses where they actually exist.—They are pleased with the selection which the President has made from among the Democratic citizens of Pennsylvania to fill the office of Secretary of the Treasury, being well assured that the honesty and firmness for which Gen. Jackson is distinguished, are prominent traits in the character of William J. Duane. They perceive, with much gratification, the efforts of the Secretary of the Treasury to correct abuses in the Custom House, where the public moneys are in the first place collected, and they feel perfectly confident that he will have a sharp eye to the security of the place where these public moneys are afterwards deposited. The U. S. Bank will receive no favors at his hands, we are sure, but neither will dictation or menace deter him from a conscientious discharge of duty, or precipitate him into any measure by which the public good will not clearly be observed.

A Good Bargin.—The Pennsylvanian says Mr. Blair (of the Globe) paid off $20,000 with $237. It adds that if Mr. Blair has not already become an edept in the art of shaving, he is a most promising pupil, and recommends him to protect himself by a course of study under certain celebrated instructors in Wall street, "the latches of whose shoes (Mr. Bennet says) Master Thomas Biddle and his little school are not worthy to unite! The editor of the Pennsylvanian recommends his ally to obtain an introduction to these gentlemen, by means of their mutual friends of the Standard and Post, both of whom he alleges are deep in their secrets. In proof of his allegation he insinuates that the Post was once in favor of a plan for establishing a bank with a capital of $30,000,000, and that the establishment of the Standard is indebted to stock jobbers to the amount of $5,000. We do not wish to interfere in the disputes of these honest gentlemen, but really we cannot help admiring Mr. Blair's knack at making a bargain.—Rich. Whig.

A Fact for Printers.—Mr. Badger, late Editor of the New York Weekly Messenger, and favorably known for many years among the editorial corps, called at our office one day this week, and in conversation related that he had regained his health, or nearly so, by returning to his trade, as printer. It will be recollected that about a year since he was compelled to resign his concern in the Messenger on account of ill health, induced by constant application to editorial duties. Since that time he relates, he has applied himself to the trade as pressman, constantly for about 9 months: that he has not only been enabled to earn $2 a day most of the time, but has by the operation regained a comfortable vigor of body and mind. Believing the circumstance of practical interest, we are thus particular in recording it for the encouragement of the Franklinian fraternity.

A floating palace came into our harbor yesterday, bearing the imposing title of 'George Washington,' built at Huron, Ohio, under the direction of her commander, Captain A. Walker, and owned by the Huron Steamboat Company. She is 186 feet in length, with breadth of hull 30 feet, guards not included—hold 12 feet, and of 606 tonnage—decks flush, and the promenade deck splendidly arranged. She has on deck six state rooms of two and three berths each, admirably arranged for families, through the avenues to an elegently constructed staircase and descends to the ladies' cabin, composed of 28 berths, supporting the deck by finely turned columns, and furnished in a style more rich and with better state than any boat we ever saw on the Hudson. Thence to the grand cabin, or rather grand saloon, done off in the same manner, and from which you communicate with the deck, larboard or starboard, by winding staircases—her height to the first deck being 10 feet, and from the first to second the same.

She has two low pressure horizontal engines of 100 horse power each, built by Warden and Benny, Pittsburgh, and is ship rigged, with tops and standing top gallant yards. Furnished by Staats of this city, and fitted out by Murray and Co.—Cost $75,000. In her steerage or forward cabin are 40 berths, well furnished, a bar, a steward and table, and three different prices of passage are named—cabin, steerage, and deck. Whole number of births 166.—Buffalo Journal, Sept. 4.

Lateral Canals.—The lateral canal from Lancaster to the Ohio Canal, is nearly completed.—Another from Lebanon to connect with the Miami Canal at Hamilton, has just been commenced.—They are both valuable projects, and are to be completed by individual enterprize.—Cleveland Herald.

Charge of Forgery.—We some time since alluded to the fact that an application had been made by Garrit Luyster, to obtain a certificate from the County Clerk, as to the authenticity of two signatures, purporting to be those of the Hon. Richard Riker, Recorder of this city, which were ascertained to be forgeries. The forged signatures of the Recorder were appended to the jurat of an affadavit, and an acknowledgment of the execution of a power of attorney, authorizing Walter F. Osgood, Esq. to receive about $900 pension money, due to a pensioner by the name of Clark. The whole of the papers having been detained by the County Clerk, who suspected them to be spurious, under the promise that his suspicions should be removed by the production before him of Clark, the pensioner, the matter was permitted to remain for a fortnight without further investigation. At the end of this time it was ascertained that Mr. Osgood had received the amount of the pension from the agent of the government, upon duplicate papers, purporting to have been acknowledged and sworn to, before a Notary Public, the day following that upon which the Clerk caused the first set to be detained. They were then handed over to the U. S. District Attorney, and such proceedings had upon them that a warrant was issued, and Osgood and Luyster apprehended. Mr. Osgood gave bail in the sum of $2,000 to answer at the October Circuit, but Luyster, from inability to procure bail, was committed to close custody.

Yesterday morning, Luyster having made a voluntary statement of the circumstances attending the alleged fraud, the former bail of Osgood made a surrender of his person in open Court, whereupon he was ordered to find new surety for his appearance to answer, and the sum increased to $10,000. Not being able to furnish the extent required, he was committed.—Courier & Enq.

Curious Organs of Fishes.—The habits of some fishes require that they should cling firmly to the rocks, or to whatever presents to them. Their locomotive powers are perfect; but how are they to become stationary in the tide or the stream? I have often thought it wonderful that the salmon or trout, for example, should keep its place, night and day, in the rapid current. In the sea, there are fishes especially provided with means for clinging to the rocks. The lump fish, cyclopterus lumpus, fastens itself by an apparatus which is on the lower part of its body. The sucking fish, remora, has a similar provision on its back. It attaches itself to the surface of the shark, and to whatever is afloat; and, of course, to the bottom of ships.—The ancients believed it capable of stopping a ship under sail, and Pliny, therefore, called it remora. We must admire the means by which these fishes retain their proper positions in the water, without clinging by their fins or teeth, and while they are free for such efforts as enables them to seize their food. The apparatus by which they attach themselves, resembles a boy's sucker, the organ being pressed against the surface to which the creature is to be fixed, the centre is drawn by muscles in the same manner that the sucker is drawn with the cord, and thus a vacuum is made. In the cuttle fish we see a modification of this apparatus: the suckers are on the extremities of their processes, or arms, and become instruments of prehension and of locomotion. They are capable of turning in all directions, either to fix the animal, or drag it from place to place. In the Indian Seas, these creatures become truly terrific from the length of their arms, which extend to eight or nine fathoms, and from the firmness with which they cling. Dr. Shaw tells us that, on throwing a fish of the species cyclopterus lumpus into a pail of water, it fixed itself so firmly to the bottom, that, by taking hold of the tail, he lifted up the pail, although it contained some gallons of water.—Sir C. Bell's Bridgewater Treatise on the Hand.

Poland.—Mr. Ferguson of the House of Commons of G. Britain, offered on the 2d of July, an address to the King of G. Britain, praying that 'His Majesty will be graciously pleased not to recognize, or in any way to give the sanction of his government to, the present state or condition of Poland, the same being brought about in violation of the treaty of Vienna, to which Great Britain was a party.' Ninety five members voted for it, and the majority who voted against it, all acknowledged that Russia had violated her treaty engagements with Europe, to respect the rights of Poland, and that they were only restrained from vindicating their views of policy and asserting the rights of insulted Poland, by considerations independent of the justice of their cause, or of the strength of their obligations.

From the N. Y. Mercantile Advertiser.

Messrs. Editors—The statements which you have already published, relative to Cotton, have excited a good deal of interest among your mercantile friends, and as it is a subject of great importance, not only to the Merchant, but also to the Manufacturer and Planter, I am glad that you have opened your columns to a fair and full discussion.

In your paper of yesterday an estimate was given of the supply and consumption of all kinds of Cotton in Great Britain for the present year.—On this side of the water we have no means of knowing what the imports of foreign Cottons are or will be into England, further than the letters of our English correspondents—therefore, although we may suppose that the quantity of those Cottons received this year will be equal to last, yet we may be in error.

However, as we do know that the crop of the United States is the one, which, after all is said, must, from its vast importance, regulate the prices in England for at least some months to come, and as we can give an accurate account of its disposal, I wish to present you with some facts and opinions, confined exclusively to our own Cotton.

	Bales.
The export of American Cotton to Great Britain from the 1st Oct. 1832, to 1st Sept. 1833, has been	606,000
Of this quantity, there had arrived previous to the 1st Jan. last, agreeably to the English Shipping Lists,	35,000
Which leaves to arrive during this year,	571,000
Of the old crop there will yet be shipped about	10,000
And of the new to arrive previous to 1st Jan. next	25,000
Showing the quantity to be received in all 1833,	606,000
Add the stock of American Cotton on hand, 1st of January,	138,000
And it will give the supply for the whole year,	744,000
Consumption for first 7 months, thirty weeks, at 14,500 per week,	435,000
Supposed do. for last 5 months, 22 weeks, at 12,000 per week,	264,000
Export for the whole year,	26,000
	725,000
Which leaves a stock, on 1st January, 1834, of only	19,000

It will be observed that I allow a diminution in the rate of consumption for the last five months of 2,500 bales per week, although it is very probable that, owing to the great demand for twist and yarns at Manchester, the rate will not be materially reduced during the months of August and September,—yet, notwithstanding this reduction of 2,500 bales per week, there would only be left a stock of American Cotton, at the end of the year, of 19,000 bales, or 1 1-2 week's consumption.

If I go farther and allow a diminution of consumption to 11,000 bales per week, for the last five months, it would only leave a stock of 11,000 bales of American Cotton first of January next, against 138,000 do. last January.

It is, therefore, evident to the most careless observer, that the consumption of American Cotton, in England, must be materially checked this year, from even a still more powerful cause than high prices, namely, want of Cotton!

I cannot pretend to foretel what prices it will require to bring down the weekly rate of consumption from 14,500 bales to 11,000 bales, nor whether the Manchester market will continue to be a brisk one during the remaining months of this year, nor how factories will work short hours ,and how many will stop working altogether. Neither am I politician enough to predict whether the Great Powers of Europe, after having let pass the French Revolution, Belgian question, Polish Revolution, and the Turkish affair, without getting into a general war, are now about to take up arms, and convulse the whole continent, in order to settle that most important question—which of the two amiable brothers is best fitted to extend his paternal arms over the great kingdom of Portugal!

All I mean to prove is, that if the consumption of Great Britain does not go below 11,000 bales per week of American Cotton during the last five months of this year, there will only remain a stock of 41,000 bales on 1st January, 1834.

Those who have been in the Cotton trade for the last 12 months, well know that so great was the quantity of seed planted in 1832, and so favorable was the weather generally, for saving the weed (as our southern friends call it) we had estimates from well informed merchants, even in January last, who put down the crop at 1,200,000 bales—and very few went so low as 1,100,000 bales. What is the result? Why, after draining the interior more closely than ever was done before, the crop which promised so well up to January, has turned out to be 1,025,000 bales.

This is only the second time that our crop has exceeded one million of bales—and people may say what they please about extra planting and extra exertions in saving, it is no small job to reach that quantity.

Why should we expect a finer season this year than in 1832? the two critical months of September and October have yet to be passed, and the weather during those two months will decide the question of a full crop or a short one. It is therefore rather premature to calculate upon 1,300,000 bales, before we know that we shall have 1,000,000; and the chances up this time are quite as much in favor of those who estimate the quantity at 1,050,000, as one of those who calculate upon 1,130,000 bales. It was shown yesterday that if the crop should produce the enormous quantity last named, 1,130,000 bales, we shall have only 580,000 bales to spare for Great Britain—a quantity so much below her wants for the past two years, it will scarcely be sufficient to keep prices at what we have been accustomed latterly to consider a moderate standard. I wish I could "draw upon my imagination for my facts," and believe in the possibility of 1,300,000 bales for the growing crop; because it would be scarcely too much for the increasing wants of the world; but, as I have hitherto kept out of the regions of fancy in my calculations, I must leave that full measure of Faith to our Eastern neighbors, being unwilling to disturb their pleasing dreams, or to interfere with their prescriptive right of "guessing."

MERCATOR.

Visit to Almack's.—April 16, 1818. We were at Almack's last night. The younger part of the company danced. They were not the most numerous part. Statesmen, cabinet ministers and their ladies, peers, peeresses and their daughters, foreign ambass adors, and others, were present. In these circles, if all classes do not intermingle, all ages do. Gibbon, writing to Lord Sheffield from Paris, says, that Horace Walpole gave him a letter to Madame du Deffand, "an agreeable young lady of eighty two," who had constant suppers at her house, and the best of company. There may be seen in society in London, and as parts of its ornaments, ladies whom I should set down as not far short of that youthful age. It would be doing injustice to the stronger sex to suppose that they give up sooner. We got to Almack's after having been at Covent Garden theatre to see Miss O'Neil's Binaca. In like manner, it is after the Opera that we go to the evening parties of Lady Castlereagh, the invitation specifying that time. Neither the Opera nor Covent Garden break up until twelve. Parties beginning at that hour, last until two or three. Most of those who have been at them do not rise until towards noon next day. About two commences the roll of carriages. At six in the evening the morning ends. Then, scarcely sooner, the throngs of carriages with gentleman and ladies on horse back, disappear from the streets and parks, the hour of preparation for dinner being at hand. This is no overdrawn account, but the daily routine. It seems strange that health can be preserved with such habits: yet the men look pale, the women blooming. Chiefly, they are of a class whose riches leave them at perfect leisure; but mixed in with them are others, men of affairs, whose duties are arduous, and whose fame must be kept up by exertion—cabinet ministers, parliamentary orators, even chancellors and vice-chancellors—the last being seen on the bench next morning at nine. How these go through all it seems more strange. This kind of life opens by degrees in February, gets to its crisis in May and June, and ends with July.—Rush's Residence at the Court of London.

Mischievous effects of Anonymous Letters.—In the Bankruptcy Court, yesterday, Thomas Arber, builder, of the Horse Ferry Road, appeared to pass his last examination, when it appeared there was a balance of £6,349 in his favor; his property consists of freehold and leasehold, and he was driven into the Gazette for a bankrupt, in consequence of some secret enemy writing anonymously to his creditors, reflecting on the state of his affairs.—London paper.

OBITUARY.

DIED—at the residence of Thomas Reid, in Russelville, Ten., on the 15th August, a young man, who said his name was Wm. Rutter—upon his shirt was found the name "ITTER." He was a tall, genteel looking man, and, no doubt, had been well raised, and once had an intelligent mind, but from some cause unknown to us, his mental faculties were much impaired. No papers could be found about him, and no correct information has been received relative to his place of residence.—He stated that he was raised in Pittsburgh—he was destitute of money—his clothing, which he wore, were decent, and indicated that he had seen better days.

Much credit is due to the citizens of Russelville for the decent manner in which they discharged the last kind offices due to a fellow creature, and especially to Doctor Wm. Johnston, the physician who attended him during his sickness.—Knoxville Register.

Delaware Canal.—The amount of tolls received on this division of canal, from 1st Nov., 1832, to 1st Sept., 1833, is $32,539 91. The other divisions have not been heard from.—Harrisburgh Chronicle.

It is calculated, says the Reporter of Harrisburg, that a single track of rails will be laid on the Pennsylvania Rail Road, from Philadelphia to Columbia, including the brdge over the Schuylkill, by the first week in December next, and that cars will then commence running between those points.—Franklin Repository.

Pennsylvania Canal.—The North Branch division of the canal is again in order. Some boats loaded with coal from the Plymouth mines, passed this on their way to Columbia. The other lines are in excellent condition, and the season of excessive evaporation and soakage being past, there is no doubt of brisk commerce on the canals from this time till winter sets in.—Harrisburgh Chronicle.

SUN DIAL.

Let Dick, some summer's day expose
Before the sun his monstrous nose,
And stretch his giant mouth to cause
Its shade to fall upon his jaws:
With nose so long, and mouth so wide,
And those twelve grinders side by side,
Dick, with a very little trial,
Would make an excellent sun dial.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
